The way to Art

JOURNEY

Tao Art Gallery, Mumbai x Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel International Airport, Ahmedabad

Airports play an important role in our modern day voyage. They are the spaces people pass through on their way to new places, filled with a sense of curiosity, unpredictability and enthusiastic energy. The art selected for this curatorial project reflects the wonderment that a tryst with something new incites.

Through the abstract visuals, the traveller is filled with further inspiration as they view this artistic narrative along their journey. The art is meant to engage, creating dialogues and allowing for subjective interpretations. Similar to travel, it transports one to an alternate place and leaves much to be experienced by the person in question. Through the interesting landscapes of artists like Kallpana Shah and Vipul Prajapati, the colorful patterns weaved by Ravi Mandlik and Nahid Merchant and the intriguing narratives explored by Vyom and Mehul Rathod, each viewer is made to take an interesting journey.

The destination doesn't matter as much as the journey, through the process of which a kind of surrender, to the travelling of both mind and body, is made to occur.

ABOUT TAO ART GALLERY:

Established in the year 2000, Tao has developed into a well-recognized brand in the Mumbai art space. Guided by connoisseur and self-taught artist, Kallpana Shah, it has seen the art market in all its highs and lows. From the days when the gallery's walls were resplendent with the works of Indian Masters like Hussain, Raza, and Tyeb Mehta in the early 2000's, to recovery after the financial crisis with a new younger crop of artists, Tao has experienced many waves of change.

In its 20-year history, Tao has curated uniquely conceptualised shows highlighting diverse art forms like painting, photography, sculpture, video, performance as well as installation arts in its two exhibition galleries. The Gallery is very open-minded towards any creative expression and emphasizes on the powerful and innovative presentation of artistic ability, building a thought provoking experience for all its viewers and inviting dialogue on culture, aesthetics and the tradition of visual arts. Tao has also been actively involved in publishing various art books and organizing art education workshops, interactive sessions with artists and other knowledge-based lectures that aim to propagate love for art, and boost the presence of Indian Art in the global arena. Tao's macro-vision sees art not in isolation, but as having a cohesive relationship with life itself.
